OUTLOOK IN CONGRESS

Opinions of Members as to Probable Legislation.

The Ranking Democrat on the House Committee on Appropriations An. ticipates an Increase in Expenditures-A River and Harbor Bill in Prospect-The Nicaragua Canal.

As Congressmen gather in Washington for attendance upon the second session of the Fifty-sixth Congress it becomes more and more apparent that a large volume of legislation is contemplated during the coming session, and that the Republican programme is to put through the Army Reorganization bill, the Ship Subsidy bill, the Nicaragua Canal bill, and to press the ratification of the Hay-Pauncefote Treaty, There will be a meeting of the Military Committee of the House early next week and probably also a meeting of the Military Committee of the Senate in advance of the reassembling of Congress to mold an Army bill which will be acceptable to the greatest number of Senators and Rep-

General Miles' plan of reorganiza-tion and increase in the strength of the military establishment on the basis of one soldier for each one thousand inhabitants will probably be rejected by both military committees of Congress on the ground that under this arrangement the army would lack elasticity.

In the matter of the size the army should be, members of Congress differ. Some of the important men in Congress favor a standing army of 125,000; some an army the maximum strength of which shall be 125,000, and which at the will of the President may be contracted to a minimum fixed by law, and quite a number of Republican Congressmen seen by a reporter for The Times have expressed the opinion that 75,000 regulars will be enough, while careful consideration should be given to the development of the Na-

Representative Hull, Chairman of the Committee on Military Affairs, who was at the Capitol yesterday, said that he would urge the passage of an Army Reorganization bill which would give the President all the troops he needed. It is Mr. Hull's opinion that the regular establishment should have a maximum strength of 96,000 and a minimum strength of 51,000. Between these limits the army could be contracted or expanded by the President as in his judgment the needs of the nation warranted.

Mr. Hull said that he would not prophers as to the details of permanent army reorganization as he desired to talk over these matters with the President and War

"The people of this country," said Mr. "The people of this country," said Mr. of the District, and target the members of the Properties of th every town has boys in the army. No one is afraid of 'militarism' out there. In fact, in my run for Congress, I stood equarely up for a good Regular Army, explained it to my people, and they endersed my position by giving me an increased

Representative Brownlow, a member of the Committee on Military Affairs, said yesterday that he will support the prop-osition to increase and to maintain the army at such a standard as demanded by conditions. He thinks an army with a maximum strength of 160,000 men would be about right.

Representative Fess, of the Committee n Naval Affairs, said that he was f the opinion that the navy will be given an increased appropriation this year. He thinks that the naval estimates so far as made are not too high, and he said Congress will be disposed to deal liberally with this branda of the national

Representative Berry said that he exto see increased appropriations. The Republicans are in complete control, and it is not expected that they will pursue the Democratic policy of Representative Burton, Chairman of the ittee on Rivers and Harbors, an-ed at the Capitol yesterday that he will call a meeting of that committee for whit can a meeting of that committee for Monday, November 26, to undertake con-sideration of a River and Harbor bill which will be reported at the coming ses-sion, and which Mr. Burton believes will be passed. Mr. Burton, who was the lead-er in the fight against the Hepburn Canai bill, said that action on the Nicaragua Canal would depend very largely upon the Canal would depend very largely upon the report of the commission on that subject. That report would be sent to Congress diately upon its reassembling, and the President, Mr. Burton thought, would make distinct recommendations on the subject. He believes that before the canal is provided for the treaty now pending before the Senate should be ratified.

Representative Livingston, of the ommittee on Appropriations, said last committee on Appropriations, said last night that he expects the appropriations which will be made at the coming session will rise above those made last session. Mr. Livingston indicated that this should be so. He said:

"During my service on the Committee on Appropriations I have found that you cannot say with reason to the Departments of the Government, "Keep your estimates down to the current year's." They can't do it. The country is growing fast and the sincrease proportionately. The

Let us good navy. Who knows how hally it may be needed in the Orient in the next few years? The very possession of a sufficient naval force may prevent unpleasantness with Germany or France. A wellantness with Germany or France. A wellorganized army is also a source of security, a kind of guarantee of peace. Let a big. six-foot fellow, with a fist like a ham, get into a crowd where they are talking fight, and the other fellows will hesitate before they jump him. Representative Hepburn said that he entertains no doubt that the Senate will act affirmatively on the bill for the construction of the Nicaragua Canal. It construction of the Nicaragua Canal. It is his opinion that the success of that bill does not depend upon the ratification of the Hay-Pauncefote Treaty. Senator Elkins says the Nicaragua bill will be passed. The senior Senator from West Virginia, it is said, wou'd not make this statement unless he were conversant with the situation. He knows the tem-

OUR TROOPS SLANDERED.

Chaplain Denies Reports of Immorality in the Philippines. Chaplain Oliver C. Miller, Fourth United States Cavalry, who has just returned from the Philippines, yesterday forwarded a long letter to Secretary Root with reference to the reports of conditions of excessive immorality and drunkenness in covered that there is not only great lack of information; but that most hurtful statements have been widely disseminated. While I do not think it worth while to review these publications in particular, I am constrained to say that my experience in a service that extended over most of the islands of the archipelago by no means corroborates such statements as the following: Our Government is aiding and abetting the reign of vice in the Philippines.' Let me give an instance to con tradict such statements. During the north-ern campaign in Luzon, General Lawton, ern campaign in Luzon, General Lawson, under whom I served as chaplain, request-ed me in all my addresses to the soldiers to warn them against theft, cruel treat-ment, or unfair dealings with the natives. During this campaign intoxicating liquors were poured out wherever found.

"I saw nothing to corroborate the s ate-ment that 800 women of abandaned claracter had come to Manila during the firs year of American occupancy. Eut, on the other hand, after making, in company with the Secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association, an exploration by night of the city of Manila, to find out the extent of drunkenness and impurity that existed, the facts compelled us to state that we did not see more than a half dozen drunken soldlers. "Neither have I seen parts of Manila wholly given over to riot and lascivious less, but, on the other hand, while going by night to visit and hold divine service with the soldiers in their quarters I have been astenished at the good order, which far exceeded that which I have sen in many of our Western cities, especially during their earlier history. Often I have gone from 7 to 10 o'clock at night and not seen a single drunken soldier on the streets of Manila and other cities. I eatirely agree with the statement made by one high in authority that I know of no city in the United States where there is so little crime or where crime is followed so quickly by punishment.

"A strict regard for the truth compels me to state that for the same number of soldiers assembled in a given place I have found a larger degree of drunkenness and immorality in the cities of our homeland than in the cities of the Philippine Archi-

"The army post exchange, as I have seen it in the Philippines, was not sur-rounded by drunken soldiers; neither were men allowed to purchase anything stronger than beer, and the quantity of stronger than beer, and the quantity of that was restricted.
